

What Was Always Here

(A Selection from The Noticing Series)

It was changing the whole time.

You didn't see it then.

It was already there.

It didn't stay that way.

You let it move.

It showed you more.

It was always doing that.

It met you there.

It was never separate.

You didn't need to figure it out.

There was nothing missing.

It was already whole.

It didn't end there.

It kept going without you.

It was happening with you.

It was never waiting.

It was still happening.

It didn't need to continue.

It was never going anywhere.

It was already enough.

It was never more than this.

It was just this all along.

It was always here before you noticed.

It didn't need to be seen.

It was never hidden.

It was never out of reach.

It was never apart from this.

It didn't need to be different.

It was never missing from you.

It was never outside of you.

It was never something to reach.

There was nowhere else to go.

What was seen was never new.

It was always here.
